TO ACCLAIM this man,

WHO WASN'T a king.

THAT I had felt.

OF ITALY'S sons.

AS THIS same man.

AND ITALY'S king.

WERE NOT for him.

WHO WAS their king.

BUT WERE for the man.

WHO WAS not a king.

AS I write these lines.

IT'S A depth of pride.

IN THAT this man.

WHO IS not a king.

IS THE spirit of me.

GONE OVER there.

I THANK you.

THEATERS.

If You Want to Laugh

AND THE spirit of you.

AND I know what it is.

THAT COMES to me now.

PASSED ON their way.

AND THE cheers they heard.

AND I knew what it was

HAD ECHOED the cheers.

WHEN THE word came back. THAT THE streets of Rome.

THE NEWS SCIMITAR

PUBLISHED BY THE MEMPHIS NEWS SCINITAR COMPANY.

DAILY EXCEPT SUNDAY

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for reproduction of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in The News Scimitar, and also the local news published herein.

SUSSCRIPTION RATES—By carrier, 15c per week. By mail, pos paid, 1 month, 40c; 2 months, 75c; 3 months, $1.00; 6 months, $2.00 months, $4.00.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

If you have trouble about getting your paper, call Main 4996 or Memphis 650 and the matter will be given immediate attention.

PAUL BLOCK, INC., Special Representative, 250 Fifth Ave., New York; Mallers Building, Chi-cago; Little Building, Boston; Kresge B≠ 1ng, De-troit;

GIVE THEM JUSTICE

A well set up young man in uniform, with an overseas cap on his head and an empty sleeve at his side, walked down Main street. Nearly everybody took notice of him. Some looked with curiosity, but most of them displayed a sympathetic interest.

In some ways this young man is more fortunate than his companions who returned robust, strong and unwounded. A grateful nation has made provision for him. All the days of his life he will have the assurance of a pension that will take care of Memphis and Shelby county sent about 10,000 men to the army. Many of them went to the war. Only a few have returned, and those few have not yet been assimilated by industry. The demobilization is going to be slow unless there is more interest in finding places for the men and better assurance that they may get back the jobs they gave up when they were

The situation is sufficient to demand the undivided attention of the community. These men were given a great send-off, Already there is a movement under way for the erection of an arch to commemorate the valor of those who gave up their lives to the cause.

There are thousands of men who walked through the hell of shellfire just as courageously as those who fell. We must never forget the debt we owe to the memory of those who gave everything. It is fitting that their names should be preserved and their heroism made a part of the permanent history of the

But we owe something to the men who fought beside those who fell, and who, we hope, avenged the deaths of their comrades. All they ask is a job and an opportunity to work. They could ask no less and we could afford to offer them a great deal more and still leave them poorly paid for what they have done.

There is too much disposition to forget the part these men have taken, too little disposition to measure them by their achievements. It is true that we should get back to peace time pursuits as quickly as possible; that we should accept the fact that the war is over and that labor henceforth should be devoted to construction rather than destruction, but our gratitude must not be permitted to lapse with the end of the performance.

When these young men went out from our midst to the army some fine things were said about them. They got a royal send-off. We watched with eagerness for the accounts of their valor, and the messages they sent home were read with consuming interest. In New York there is a committee that extends an official welcome to the returning transports. The men are accorded the freedom of the city, and flags and bunting and bands bid them welcome.

It must not be said that our interest in them dies with the vanishing echo of the last ringing sheer that greets their land-We are not asking for sympathy for these strong young arms. They wrote in clear, bold letters which the world might read that American grit was not a decadent quality of this wholly."

It is a finely tempered heart, one of was ever my way and shall be still, when I trust a man to trust him wholly." Most of them have fought their way through life, and

These men want no sympathy and they care very little for the applause of the multitude. They want to be at home with loved ones, and they want a chance to begin again to make good. They ask nothing but simple justice. It is up to the employers to say if they shall have it.

There is one further thing that should be said in this connection. There are a lot of men who are having their jobs tendered to them, provided they can secure their discharges. There should be no obstacle in the way of the return of the soldier who asks for a discharge, and accompanies it with a tender of a lucrative situation. Except for the prospect of getting a young soldier in trouble we might relate a case that has come under our observation. A private in one of the camps, with a wife in a hospital, has asked for a discharge. He has been offered a position paying $2,000 a year. His application did not get out of camp. There is a growing belief that many men in this situation are being held to prevent the mustering out An. watchers' seek the rest that no of the officers. We hope this is not true, and the officers themselves have an opportunity to disprove it by accelerating the applications for discharge when it is shown that good jobs are awaiting the men. With all the difficulty confronting the men already discharged nothing should be thrown in the way of the man who has a job awaiting him.

The labor people of Memphis are grateful to Gov.-elect Roberts, who was instrumental in having Representative Carl Larsen, of Shelby county, appointed chairman of the house committee on labor. Mr. Larsen has served several terms in the legislature, and has impressed everyone with his earnestness and sincerity: He was employed at the south crematory before going to the legislature, but was denied a leave of absence by

Now that dealers can charge any price they desire for their commodities they should play fair. Let genuine pork sausage be pork sausage, and not made out of the odds and ends of sheep shanks, beef and what not.

According to Plutarch, Fabius said: "To conduct great matters and never commit a fault is above the force of human nature." Those who are holding spyglasses on President Wilson should think of this.

Georges Carpentier, the French heavyweight, should be doorkeeper at the peace conference, and when a Hun delegate seeks admission he should land one of his famous swings on the point of his chin.

The gun jammed, is the explanation of many of the disasters that befell our intrepid airmen. Why not invent a gun that will not "jam"?

Lebandy, "the emperor of Sahara," found in the wife of his bosom all the Bolshevik that was necessary.

Polish Bolshevism is not much better than any other-or

It seems that the only good Villa will be the dead Villa.

The Days of Real Sport-By Briggs

A STATE OF THE STA 15 THAT ALL HE -HE-HE TOLD US'T WE YOU'VE GOT OH - EARL ! HAVE CUD HITCH ON' HIS BOB 'N WE TO SAY FOR DID N HE -HE HE JUST WENT YOU LOST ANOTHER YOURSELF LINE EVER THING WAY OUT 'N MITTEN " ? IT JUST TH' COUNTRY - N HE -HE- HE MEEPS A BODY BUSY MOULDN'T LET US OFF 'N WE HAD TO WALK BACH 'N I NEARLY GETTING YOU MITTENS !! FROZE 'N EVER'THING - + + + + " 1 DID M LOST MY MIT'N. IN THE TU THE END OF A PERFECT BR1669/ JANUARY DAY, Twice Told Tales 10 Years Ago Today in Memphis.

JANUARY, 14, 1909.

Mrs. Carrie Nation, of hatchet fame, visited the Memphis Windsor hotel Tuesday, and celebrated her arrival by tongue-lashing the bartender Just in the act of mixing a drink.

More than 150 were burned and trampled to death in the Rhodes opera house fire at Boyertown, Pa.

N. O. Tate, a prominent figure in the management of the Memphis Rencue home and mission, was Tuesday indicted by the grand jury on a charge of perjury as the result of information furnished by Charies Abbott, recently acquitted on a larceny charge preferred by Tate.

year.

Chicago Nationals, champions of the Chicago Nationals, champions of the world, arrived in Memphis Tueaday from Vicksburg, where he arranged for the spring training of the Cubs.

A $7,900 pavilion may be erected at Riverside park if officials of the Memphis Street Railway company will agree to extend its tracks to that point.

Just a Moment DAILY STRENGTH AND CHEER. Compiled by John G. Quinius, the Sunshine Man.

Worth does not mean what a man is worth, you must find some better defi-nition than that,

You are unsafe until you feel "Heaven and earth may pass away, but God's word can not pass away."

It is always a stratling thing to see the repidity with which the wistest and the best are forgotten.

-Well-Springs of Wisdom.

The dawn is coming through the half-closed shutters: The sun of one trail life is going down. re weariness and pain have left their pallor. sweetness of a life has left its

And simply as a child would tell its A pure face holds the record of the While through the golden sunlight of the morning, All silently the shade of death ap-

An, watchers' seek the rest that now awaits you.

Ah, sunbeams' come not where such light is found.

Tread active, for the morn of life is breaking:

The ground on which you stand is hely ground.

—By Marian B. Stockell.

Nashville, Tenn.

Dayton, Ohic.

Mrs. Wilson Woodrow's Article BY MRS. WILSON WOODROW,

All the Huns are not in Germany, 'n business offices, workshops and stores you will find many a little kaiser quite as ruthless, arrogant and self-centered, so far as their opportunitles permit, as is the now discredited war lord.

It is seldom the big boss, The man who has the brains to build up or conduct a successful business is usually the least dictatorial and most constant; register the object of numberless small oppressions, constantly trying to place

The chief, or foreman, or manager who hectors and biusters and rewards or punishes according to his personal whims or prajudices is due very shorting to become another interesting exhibit on the scrup pile. Autocracy is getting mightly unfashionable in this world, no matter whether it sits on a throne or behind a desk, and modern business is bound to rid itself of these barnacies. Meanwhile, they are still with us-guite a number—as many an earnest and decoted worker knows to his cost. I have a letter from a victim of one of these petty Hohenzollerns—a girl I have a letter from a victim of one of these petty Hohenzollerns—a girl who has been three years with the same zonern, and who halds a position of considerable responsibility. It am deeply interested in my work, she writes, and have always tried to be conselentiously thorough. Of late, however, I have a sinking feeling that comes nigh to discouragement, Often in the past my co-workers have told me that I was foolish to take such care in doing little things that no-body ever knew about. You will get no thanks for it, they said I was not doing it for thanks, however; so I paid no heed to their remarks. And now, after three years of devoted effort, I am beling rewarded not only with no thanks, but with persecution and unkindness.

Then she goes on to explain that she

Then she pues on to explain that she has managed to antagonize her immediate superior, a man who tries to get results in his department by constant fault-finding and criticism, who is masty to everybody on princine.

He is, moreover, one of these who cannot endure any reflection on their supposed infallibility. So when certain errors occurred for which he was entered to the supposed infallibility. So when certain errors occurred for which he was entered to the supposed infallibility. The supposed infallibility is easily reached.

can possess is a loyal and enthusiastic force, and he knows how much he must depend on the people under him.

As Henry Ford once said, with a wave of his hand toward his great plant:

"What created all this? Why, it was just working together—all of us working together—all of us working together. Working together—all of us working together. That is the Aladdin's lamp which is producing the mightly marvels of modern business. Not the forced and sullen labor of slaves, but the enger and harmonious bending of different minds toward a common purpose.

An army wifus or its morale, and so does a business enterprise. And it takes more than goose-stopping to create a real esprit de corps.

The big boss knows this, that is, if he is really big. But the big boss is geherally absorbed in wide questions of scope and pelley. He has to entrust the management of details to subordinates, and that is where the little kalsers get their swing.

There must be discipline, system in every organization, of course; but the discipline which dampens ardor, checks initiative and exercises itself with "office politics," that deadliest fore to efficiency, is a curse rather than a blessing.

The chief, or foreman, or manager who bectors and busters and rewards or punishes according to his personal whims or prajudices is due very short; y to become another interesting exhibit on the scrap pile. Autocracy is getting mighty unfashionable in this world, no matter whether it sits on a throne or behind a deek, and modern business is bound to rid itself of these

THE LONE WOMAN.

In these new days of informality are we still to cling to the conventions of the past? Is woman to be bound by the antiquated formulas of the Victorian period, even though she has long ago discarded the dress of that age for the overall? In the January Good Housekeeping Fannie Heastip Lea discusses the problem.

There is decidedly such a thing as carrying convention too far. The men

There is decidedly such a thing as carrying convention too far. The men you meet in the office, day after day, need not be passed by blankly on the street. If you meet a man daily on the street corner and he seems about to tell you some fine morning that it is a pleasant day, why not? A smile, a look of interest, just a glimpse of a look of interest, just a glimpse of your own personality—again, why not? Marriage is a business, and for most women the only one. All the house

WE HAVE PUT HIM BACK.

To The News Scimitar:

Some few days ago I noticed a complaint registered against "Ye Towne Goesip," by K. C. B.—next to your own editorials the most interesting feature of your paper. Since that time I have watched daily for these beautiful and helpful little "spiels," but, slas, find my favorite columns conspicuous by their absence.

I have been a reader of your good paper for many years and never once did I complain of Sarah Shatford's poems (?) or "The Confessions of Roxane." But I can not refrain from protesting against the loss of K. C. B. Can't you let us have him again."

Very truly yours,

Columbus, Miss.

PUBLIC DISCUSSION

PARK FIELD "Y."

The war is over, but that doesn't mean we can afford to back up in our efforts to help the boys who have to remain in the service for the present. They are really in need of more attention than before the armistice was sixted.

The probability is that the federal constitutional prohibition amendment will be ratified before Feb. 1, 1919. The following 15 states have already approved the amendment Mississippl. Virginia, Kentucky, South Carolina, North Dakota, Maryland, Montana, Orth, Dakota, Maryland, Montana, Orth, Crans, Delaware, South Dakota, Massachusetts, Arizona, Georgia, Louislana, Florida, The following states, which have not ratified, are considered certain to do so: Alabama, Arkansas, which have not ratified, are considered certain to do so: Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevaska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Maxico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Uish, Vermoni, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming, Ali of these legistatures meet in January. The list includes every state which has not already ratified except New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, and of these three Pennsylvania is hopeful New tention than before the armistice was signed.

"What's on the 'Y' tomorrow night?" isked a solidier of the secretary.

"Nothing, as far as we know now," answered the "Y" man "Gee, another lonesome night."

Help us eliminate these lonesome rights by offering your services to Mrs. Salter, itemiock 2141. Remember the boys appreciate what the people of Memphis have done for them, and they wouldn't understand if they fell down now. Sincerely your.

Park Field. Camp Secretary.

HAD HIS REASONS.

To the People of Memphis:

Mrs. T. M. Salter, who for the past year has had charge of the "Y" hut entertainments at Park field, will continue to act in that capacity. The appointment was made by the national war work council, through E. O. Harbin, camp secretary. Her acceptance will be hailed with joy by the Park field boys.

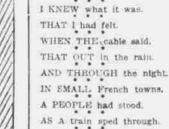

Needless to say, she will need the cooperation of the good people of Memphis. People with automobiles are needed to take entertaining parties to the camp. Singers, residers, dancers and entertainers of all sorts are needed to provide these entertainments.

In regard to one of his famous public libraries Andrew Carnegie delights in telling the following story: A tourist who was visiting a certain country town stopped in front of a handsome building and asked an old man who was leaning against the railing what it was.

"That is the public library, sir," he replied. "Heaven bless Mr. Carnegie, sir! He it was who gave us this beautiful library, sir," cludes every state which has not already ratified except New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania is hopeful; New York and Pennsylvania is hopeful; New York an even proposition and New Jersey probably opposed to the amendment. Alabama, where action on the amendment was thought doubtful, elected a dry legislature of 25 to 10 in the senate and 75 to 31 in the house. In Connecticut there is a 75-ratification majority in the house and the senate is considered safe. In Illinois there will be about 10 majority in each house for ratification. In Rhode Island, only recontly considered against the amendment, the vote in the legislature will probably be 21 to 15 dry in the senate and 35 to 45 dry in the house. The Wisconsin Implicature, which would naturally be considered uncertain, will catify by 22 to 11 and 59 to 41.

During 1918 congress passed the food stimulation bill with a so-called war prohibition section, which was signed by the president Nov. 21. Congress has enacted prohibition for Hawaii and the precident forbade the manufacture of beer, his order becoming effective Dec. 1.

JUST A few lines.

IN A letter from France.

AND WHEN I had read it.

"And I stood there on the street, and eat tears blinded my eyes, so that sen the president passed I could see m, but indistinctly. And when he

AS A train sped through. WITH 1TS windows dark. AND HAD raised their hats. AND SOME had cheered. AND THE train was gone. AND I knew what it was.

THAT I had felt. WHEN THE news came back, OF THE mighty crowds. THAT HAD waited long. ON THE Paris streets. FOR JUST one man. AND A plain man. OF ANOTHER tongue. AND HE wasn't a king.

AND HE wasn't a knight. AND HAD never been. AND WOULD never be. AND I knew what it was. THAT I had felt. WHEN THE cables told.

THAT IN London town. A KING had come. LIKE A fairy king. COME OUT of a book. AND HAD led him away. THROUGH A multitude.

THAT HAD gathered there.

NOT TO see the king. NEARLY NINE-TENTHS OF U. S. PROHIBITION

SEE A survey of the wet and dry situation throughout the country, just completed by the Methodist board of temperance, shows that there are 2,546 dry counties. During the year the drys won state-wide victories in Ohio, Florida, Wyoming and Nevada, with a recount pending in Minnesota. They were defeated in Missouri and California, but elected ratification legislatures in both states. There are at present 31 dry states, not including Texas, where a state-wide prohibition law was held by the state supreme court to be contrary to the constitutional provision for local option. At present opening of saleons in that state is being prevented by in junctions and refusal of the comptroller to grant licenses.

The probability is that the federal constitutional prohibition amendment will be ratified before Feb. 1 1818 The New Lyric Players Lillian Kemble and W. L. Thorne It Pays To Advertise A FARCICAL FACT

Roi Cooper Megrue and Walter Hackett

NEW LYRIC THEATER Every Evening 8:15 O'clock Mats. Wed., Sat., Sun., 2:15

O'clock PRICES: Evenings, 75c, 50c, 25c, Plus War Tax Satinees, 50c, 25c, Plus War Tax

NEXT WEEK First Time in Memphis "THE BRAT"

Continuous 1 to 11 P.M. A Show Today of Many Strong Features. A Vaudeville Bill Seldom Excelled The Massive Drury Lane Success

"Sporting Life" Seven Reels of Exciting Interest EXTRA

The President PARIS, LONDON, ROME. -and-Close-Up Views of the Big Transport Northern Pacific,

As Her Soldier Passengers Are Being Rescued. Matinecs Nights, 10c-15c 10c-20c-30c

Timely, Patriotic. According in Humor.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY Wallace Reid in "The Man From

DEVOUT.

MOVING PICTURES.

Mary Pickford

in "Johanna Enlists"

A Sparkling Arteraft Picture.

Funeral Range" Thrile. Suspense, Comedy. James Montgomery Flagn Comedy, 'Independence B'Gosh.'

After 5 p.ir. 150 Children 10c All Times.

WEEK BEGINNING JAN. 13

AMERICA'S LOVELIEST WOMAN Singing Her Own Favorite Songs Extra Feature | Added Attraction POLLY MORAN GILBERT &

Charlie Chaplin FRIEDLAND Famous Shariff
Nell of Mack
Segnet Comedies
FAMEULAND
Songland's Favorite Writers OTHER FEATURE ACTSI

NEXT WEEK-CYCLONIC EVA TANGUAY The World's Greatest Eccentric Comedienne.

